SANDGATE THEATRE WINS BEST COMEDY ACTOR

For the first time since the 1980's Sandgate has won an award in the Yarrageh Festival. Congratulations David Corrie on obtaining BEST COMEDY ACTOR for his role as the man in "Boxing Day". The adjudicator commented on how difficult it was to maintain his character with just his head showing through the top of a box. His expressive face and subtle change in facial expressions maintained the character of the downtrodden male as he was being whipped into line by the leather clad women. Even when he was let out of the box, he kept the characterization in control and didn't try to ham it up. Well done David. Congratulations.

Committee Positions open for 2009. Please start considering who would like to nominate for these positions for next year at the AGM.

THANK YOU TO ALL WHO CONTRIBUTED TO THE SUCCESS OF THE YARRAGEH DRAMA FESTIVAL

What an entertaining weekend. Thanks to the coordinator Christine Linning, Chris Packman Stage Manager, David Coleman, Lighting and Sound, Front of House Helen O'Meara and her team. Thanks to all those who contributed to the wonderful supper served on the closing evening. Paul Collings, the adjudicator was encouraging and insightful with his comments. Here is what he says he looks for when determining awards:

Courage, originality, and what theatre is- a beautiful art form- when performance meets audience and both are taken away to blurred places between the real and the unreal.
